

Mediaocean education

Mediaocean has been offering a blended pathway (including on-demand, live, and eLearning options) to its users for years. We now offer a certification process for all internal and external users of our products. The process consolidates all learnings in one place and allows tracking of progress.

Once a learning pathway is completed, users will earn a badge via Credly to help celebrate and recognize the accomplishment.

The following how-to video will show you how to get started with Credly (once you have earned your badge by completing your Litmos pathway):
How to get started in Credly

Once you've earned a badge by completing a Litmos pathway, you can use Credly's sharing options to display it on LinkedIn, Twitter and Facebook directly from your Credly account.
Please review this how-to video on how to share your Credly badges

Mediaocean is starting with foundational badges for cloud-based products with plans to expand. Users can view the full collection of badges Mediaocean offers and choose a new badge to earn at any time.

Please visit the collections here

To get started with certifications, visit Mediaocean education and choose your platform pathway.